

“Construyendo” and Mextenis join forces to create a better Mexico

In the context of the first day of activities in The Greatest March, Mexican professional doubles tennis players Santiago González and Miguel Ángel Reyes Varela went to Tlacuitlalpa along with “Construyendo”.

The reason: to build a house for Ana Lilia Monroy, 26, who is a single mother of three and lives with her parents and thirteen more people.

Ana Lilia is one of the beneficiaries of the program. Thanks to the collaboration of Mextenis and Construyendo, she will be able to realize her dream and offer her three children a home where they can grow up in a safe, comfortable space, with the possibility of having a lifelong property.

With the help of Mexican team players González and Reyes Varela, as well as volunteers from the company founded in 2008, Ana Lilia’s dream began to take shape, and soon she will be able to leave the house of her parents and start her own home.

With the goal of improving the quality of life of families in need, “Construyendo” was created in 2008. Throughout more than 10 years, it has benefitted more than 17,000 people.

This project is one of the pillars of the organization. It involves the construction of houses in 30 days. In collaboration with Mextenis, more than 1300 houses have been built, including Ana Lilia Monroy’s home.

Santiago González praised the work of the organization and said he is looking forward to being a source of inspiration for the benefitted families. He also said that this experience will give both him and Reyes Varela more strength to give their all and defeat the Bryan brothers.

This program bolsters the social commitment we have embraced in Grupo Mextenis to leave and provide a legacy beyond the world of sports.
